Permit Volume Overview

San Francisco issued 1,874 building permits this month. The bulk of activity — 1,740 permits (92.8%) — consisted of over-the-counter alteration permits, which cover interior remodels, tenant improvements, and routine property upgrades. Structural additions and alterations accounted for another 60 permits (3.2%), while ground-up new construction represented 5 projects (0.3%) of total volume. Demolition activity stood at 4 permits this period.

Permit Type	Count	Share
OTC Alterations	1,740	92.8%
Additions / Alterations	60	3.2%
New Construction	5	0.3%
Signs	21	1.1%
Demolitions	4	0.2%

Project Valuation

The combined declared value of all permitted projects this month totaled $199.25 million, with an average project valuation of $107,646. San Francisco consistently ranks among the highest-cost construction markets in the country, reflecting both elevated material and labor costs. High declared valuations signal opportunity for contractors and trade specialists operating in premium markets.

Neighborhood Activity

Permit activity was spread across San Francisco's diverse neighborhoods. Financial District/South Beach led all areas with 211 permits (11.3% of city total). The table below highlights the six most active neighborhoods this month — a useful guide for targeting canvassing, outreach, and job sourcing.

Neighborhood	Permits	Share
Financial District/South Beach	211	11.3%
Sunset/Parkside	132	7.0%
Mission	113	6.0%
Outer Richmond	108	5.8%
West of Twin Peaks	96	5.1%
Bernal Heights	80	4.3%

ADU & New Construction Activity

Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) and new construction permits represent two of the most opportunity-rich segments for contractors. This month, 14 ADU permits were issued (0.7% of total), alongside 5 new construction permits (0.3% of total). San Francisco's housing policies have made ADUs a particularly active category — the city has streamlined its ADU approval process, creating a steady pipeline of garage conversions, basement units, and backyard cottages across virtually every neighborhood.

Existing Property Use Breakdown
